WESTERN EDUCATION FOR ORIENTAL PEOPLES.

CEYLON GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

The following is an extract from the speech made by H.E. Sir Hugh Clifford, Acting Governor of Ceylon, at the prize distribution at the Royal College, on Thursday, the 5th instant.

The question which I would ask you all to consider is what after all is the real meaning of this work of education, of this work of the introduction of Occidental education into an Oriental colony upon which we are engaged.

I take it that we are all agreed that the primary object of education is the formation of character, and we all equally would admit, I make no doubt, that racial character is the result of the average character of the individuals that compose that race.

And now I want to talk to you a little about race. You hear a great deal about race animosity, race hatred, race jealousy and all the rest of it. I ask you all to put these phrases out of your minds and to thrust them where they belong—into the limbo of irrelevancies.

I want all of you to think what race is. A race must be supposed to have, just as an individual body has something in the nature of an individual character, and that character, if we like to trace it into any race in the world, is, you will find, mainly shaped and moulded into form by three influences.

The first of these is what we call environment, the climatic or physical conditions of life, that render a race that is brought into being in one part of the world distinct from any other, by reason of certain qualities that are necessitated in order to insure its continued existence, qualities which in another part of the world may be entirely absent.

Environment also had an enormous effect upon the formation of racial character. Next comes historical circumstance, which may be due to the working of outside forces, which may be due to qualities inherent in the race itself, or which may be due to the particular religious revelation which it has accepted, but which, in the case of every race differs and is peculiar to that particular race.

These two influences you have—environment and historical circumstance—and thirdly you have the influence which we call heredity, that is to say, an influence passing on from individual to individual atom, as each atom replaces another in the history of the race, an influence which has contributed to the accumulated racial character, traditions, ideas, hopes, and the circumstances which have made the environment and the history of any particular race combine to produce the results which, transmitted by heredity, fashion what we understand as the character of a race which makes the race what we know it to-day.

A GIGANTIC EXPERIMENT. I think you will follow from what I have said that any process of change in a race must necessarily be brought about and effected gradually through a change in the individual atoms that compose it; and rightly or wrongly a large number of people belonging to Asiatic races have decided that they will subject themselves or their children to the formative processes which are to be obtained by education and training of a purely Occidental type.

We must all recognise, I think, that we are to-day in a day of small beginnings, that this is only one first step towards a great experiment which is being tried in Asia, advisedly tried, and tried with due consideration and judgment by the various Oriental races who have determined to give their children Occidental education.

I want that to be recognised as being what it is to some extent a gigantic experiment, because it is in a stage which can be described as an experimental stage. And I think it should also be recognised, that an experiment of that magnitude and of that moment and of that importance cannot possibly be made without its being attended by certain risks.

Dr. Coomaraswamy, in that monumental work which he recently published on the subject of Medieval Sinhalese Art, has stated it as his opinion that on the debit side—which he is rather fond of filling in to the discredit of my country is to be placed the fact that the natives of Ceylon are being subjected to an entirely false and unnatural system of education.

I am quoting his own words "the result of which has been to make the 'educated' a stranger in his own land. Now it seems to me, no matter how highly we value, and we do value, the advantages that are to be obtained by an education in the higher schools of the Colony, schools like the Royal College, and the Universities that are open to the most successful scholars, we must realise that no academic distinctions, that no achievements in the region of law or medicine or science are ever going to compensate anybody, who is a native of Ceylon, who has in his heart a proper love for the Colony which gave him birth for being in any sense "a stranger in his own land."

AN IMPORTANT CONSIDERATION. What I want to say—and all this leads to it—is that although it is far from me to belittle in any way the education of a purely Occidental type which is being given in these institutions, I would strongly urge upon parents of all boys who are themselves natives of Ceylon to insist upon their children being thoroughly grounded in their own language, they should be taught to understand their own great history not merely the names and the dates and incidents, but the philosophy of all the events, of all the happenings of those many hundreds of years of their history during which their race has been in process of formation—that they should learn to glory in the high achievements of their race, that they should learn to be proud of its traditions, proud of its history and its verities as becomes those who are born in the country, and that they should know above all, the people of the country—not the educated people who have received an education such as their own, because that acquaintance is easy to make—but to learn to know the people and thoroughly to understand the natives of the country, so that they may be able to speak for those natives—the uneducated natives—with the voice of authority, which must be recognised as of immense value. It seems to me that this is a very important point in the real broad education of the rising generation in our Colony to-day and very humbly I would commend it to parents as something worth thinking about. College, such as this, will, I am convinced, do all they can to fulfil their objects and to give to the children of all classes of the Colony the best education according to the best Occidental ideas that we are capable of affording. But nobody can give to any son of a native of this Colony an education, in his own country, in his own language, and above all that an understanding of his own people except the parents who bore him. They must take care that he shall not forget in the flood of other learning, this most important, learning of all, a thorough knowledge of his own country, its people, its history and its language. I say again with St. Paul that if a man of this Colony speak with the voice of men and angels and bath not love for his Colony he has become as a sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal, and he fails to play his part in the great development of the race which it is the duty of every individual atom to play.

ANNUAL REPORT ON WEI-HAI-WEI.

Sir J. H. Stewart Lockhart, Commissioner, has sent home his report on the Territory of Wei-hai-wei for the year 1900. In the course of it he remarks:—

The revenue collected during the year amounted to $83,177, as compared with $80,331 during the previous year. There are no capitalists resident in this Territory and wealthy merchants at Shanghai are not inclined under existing conditions to invest their capital here. This is illustrated by the attitude of the Shanghai public in regard to the question of starting a fruit-growing company here. The results of the fruit-growing experiment have proved conclusively that fruit could be successfully and profitably produced in this Territory, and certain persons were very anxious to form a company, buy or rent ground, and start business, but owing to the uncertainty of tenure it was found impossible to raise the small capital required. It cannot, however, be said that trade is either stagnant or diminishing, though owing to the place being a free port it is not possible to give accurate returns of imports and exports, as there are no Customs returns.

A general report on the growing of fruit, trees, shrubs, flowers, and vegetables at Wei-hai-wei from 1905 to 1909 has been prepared by Mr. Gibbons, horticulturist, specially appointed to superintend the growing of fruit in this Territory. Mr. Gibbons states that "the result of four years' experiment has been to demonstrate very clearly that the culture of fruit can be engaged in as a commercial proposition," and that "the experiment has proved to my satisfaction that fruit culture at Wei-hai-wei would be a safe investment." In order to encourage the Chinese to undertake fruit culture and tree planting a small pamphlet prepared by Mr. Gibbons has been translated into simple Chinese and widely distributed in the Territory. The pamphlet gives general elementary instructions, as pruning, manuring, propagating, &c., and should prove of benefit to Chinese.

Both of the Magistrate's Courts have been fully occupied with the litigation which is so marked a feature of Chinese village life in Wei-hai-wei. The Magistrates endeavour, as far as possible, to decide the civil cases which arise in accordance with Chinese law and customs, and the fact that the villagers seek the assistance of the courts more and more every year shows that these efforts are appreciated. The system of having duly authorised petition writers has been abolished at the suggestion of the district officer because it was found that these petition writers grossly abused their positions, charged extortionate fees, and stirred up litigation on their own account. Every possible phase of Chinese life is revealed in the cases which come to court, and without a sympathetic understanding of the people, and a knowledge of their language and customs, it would be impossible to administer justice in a manner that would give satisfaction to those who seek redress. Evidence is apt to be extremely conflicting, and the puzzles and conundrums which the natives desire the magistrates to solve are frequently very bewildering. Documents are produced often hundreds of years old in proof of rights of ownership or cultivation, division of family property, &c., and many cases are fought out generation after generation.

Constitutional reform is being introduced in the Province of Shantung. Representatives of the Chinese Government, at the request of that Government, were allowed to come to this Territory to prepare a register of such electors as are entitled to become, or to vote for, members of the Provincial Assembly to be held at Chinan, the capital of Shantung. The register has been completed, and the first election of members of the Provincial Assembly is now taking place.

The general condition of the Affairs of this Territory during the past year may be considered as satisfactory as circumstances permit. Whilst trade has not increased appreciably, the general standard of living among the Chinese population appears to be steadily improving. They have been good, the people appear to be contented, and there has been but little crime. The number of visitors during the summer months was the largest on record, and there is every indication that it will continue to increase.

The Japanese Minister insists upon the establishment of a Consulate at Chientao, and that the Korean territory be placed under Japanese jurisdiction.

In view of the importance of the subject, the Waipuu has not yet made any reply.

Chinese Royalty in Hongkong.

RETURN OF PRINCE SHUN.

ENTERTAINED AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

Once again the harbour this morning was alive with bunting displayed aboard a number of warships in port, of which the Imperial yellow dragon flag predominated. After a very brief stay at Canton the Chinese Naval Commissioners left last night for Hongkong, arriving here early to-day. The cruiser Hoi Shai on which Prince Shun Pui-lap and Admiral Sah Chen-ping journeyed to Canton was conveyed by a mosquito fleet of white-bellied gunboats and a training ship, Admiral Li Chun commanding the South China squadron, flying his flag from the Po Pih. Owing to the brevity of his stay on Wednesday, the Naval Commissioners had to forego the pleasure of being entertained at Government House, the ceremony being reserved for the return visit. It was rumoured this morning that H. E. Yuan Shu-hsun, Viceroy of Canton, had accompanied the Prince to Hongkong, but on inquiry it was learnt that the report was incorrect.

Shortly after noon, a guard of honour comprising of a company from The Buffs was drawn up at Blake Pier in anticipation of the official landing which was arranged for 12.30 p.m. The approaches to the Pier and the verandahs of all the offices on the waterfront held thousands of spectators eager to catch a glimpse of the distinguished visitors. When the Kowloon of the Chinese Customs service approached Blake Pier at 12.30, it was seen that the Prince had not left the flagship, the Commissioner bringing the information that His Imperial Highness would not land before one o'clock. And so the crowd waited. The Customs launch returned to the Hai-chi and when she cast off again from the cruiser it was seen that she carried the Dragon flag at the fore. Capt. Baird, commanding the guard of honour, had his men standing at attention while Lieut. Crookenden was guarding the colours. Within the next few minutes the Kowloon drew alongside Blake Pier. Capt. P. H. M. Taylor, A.D.C. to the Governor received the Prince at the landing. As soon as His Highness set foot on the Pier steps the regimental band struck a few bars of the Chinese national anthem and simultaneously a royal salute was fired from the shore battery at Kowloon. After inspecting the guard, the Chinese visitors were escorted in chairs to Government House. Excellent order was maintained along the route by a force of Police under Chief Inspector Baker.

Those invited to the luncheon included His Excellency Kao, Erh Chien, Captain Wu, Kwong Tung, Commodore Lyon, Lieut. Blanchflower, His Excellency Colonel Darling, Captain Stewart, Hon. Mr. P. N. B. Jones, Mr. A. J. Harris, Commissioner of Customs, Hon. Sir Henry Berkeley, K.C., Hon. Mr. C. M. Messer, Sir Paul Chater, Hon. Mr. E. A. Hewitt, Hon. Mr. A. W. Brewin, Captain F. J. Bodeley, Hon. Dr. Ho Kai, Hon. Mr. Wei Yuk, Hon. Mr. W. J. Gresson, Hon. Mr. E. Osborne, Hon. Mr. Murray Stewart, Mr. D. R. Law, Mr. J. R. M. Smith, Mr. Lau Chu Pak, Ng Li Hing, Mr. Justice Gompertz, and Taitai Wan.

After luncheon His Excellency proposed the toast of "the King" which was loyally received.

Subsequently His Excellency proposed the toast of His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of China.

Sir Frederick Lugard said:—We have to-day the pleasure and privilege of welcoming His Royal Highness, who, as President of the Board of Admiralty, in which large office he succeeds his illustrious father Prince Chun, is visiting the seaboard of China and is about to proceed to Europe to study naval matters. In the past as in the present, the Emperor has ever been ready to assist China in training her naval officers, and we have with us to-day, in the person of Admiral Sah, a very distinguished naval officer who began his naval education in Great Britain. I am glad that the first foreign community to welcome His Royal Highness in his tour is a British Colony, and we can all assure him of a most cordial welcome and of assistance in his projects when he visits England. I propose to you the health of His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of China and I ask you to couple with it the name of His Royal Highness and to wish him success and a pleasant voyage.

His Imperial Highness replied in felicitous terms; his speech was interpreted by Taitai Wan.

COLLAPSE OF FACTORY AT CANTON.

SEVERAL LIVES LOST.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 9th September.

Shortly after 8 o'clock last night, during a violent squall which visited this city, the Canton Aerated Water Company's factory situated on the bund in close proximity to the Canton Hospital, which was in course of construction, was blown down. As the walls collapsed without the least warning a number of workmen who were sleeping there at the time were buried under the debris. Others fortunately effected their escape. In answer to the alarm raised, men from various charitable institutions hastened to the scene to render assistance. In spite of being handicapped by the darkness prevailing at the time, the people spared no pains to extricate the unfortunate victims of the accident, regardless of the hard labour involved upon them. Six men were extricated from the ruins, of whom four were dead and the other two seriously injured. It was nearly one o'clock when the men abandoned their work and proceeded to their homes. It is reported that at the time of the sad occurrence, thirteen persons were sleeping in the shed attached to the factory, so it is surmised that the list of casualties is not complete. A number of coolies were engaged today in the work of recovering the dead bodies.

Liquor Import Duty.

TEXT OF BILL.

DISCUSSION BY LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

At the meeting of the Legislative Council this afternoon, the Attorney General moved the first reading of a Bill entitled an Ordinance to provide for the collection of a Revenue of Excise upon Intoxicating Liquors.

The Colonial Secretary seconded.

His Excellency the Governor said that in a sense the Bill before the Council overlapped, and, to some extent, superseded, the two items which had been postponed. The system of raising revenue by the imposition of an import duty had received the most minute consideration of the Government. His Excellency was aware of, and was fully alive to, the fact that the proposal before the Council would raise a monopoly in favour of certain dealers who would raise the price of liquors to any extent without any good accruing to the revenue and would at the same time inflict a hardship on smaller dealers. At a former meeting of Council, His Excellency had proposed that certain establishments should be taxed for selling liquor and had included clubs in the proposal. His Excellency outlined the difficulties which beset the Government's path and said that, after very mature consideration, it was proposed to adopt the present method. Proceeding, His Excellency pointed out that the proximity of Macao and the mainland of China increased the liability of smuggling. Liquor, once smuggled into the Colony, could not be detected like opium of the Opium Farmer. The question was noted in the local Press, which had the effect of focussing public attention on the best methods to be adopted. The unofficial members of Council had consulted their constituents, as a result of which they held a meeting, which resulted in a number of resolutions being passed. It struck His Excellency as being extraordinary that the unofficials should have failed to pass a unanimous resolution and who had further taken the somewhat unusual course of sending a copy of the resolutions to the Press. His Excellency said that assuming that an import duty on liquor was imposed, there were several methods in which this could be done. First of all, there was the contract method, which, however, had drawbacks, which His Excellency detailed at length. The profits of the contractor, His Excellency declared, would form an extra burden on the community. No doubt, there was prejudice against the system. The second method of collecting import duties would be to prohibit smuggling. Detection would be easy and the risk attaching to a contravention of the law would be so great that it would not be likely that any respectable citizen would run the risk. Continuing, His Excellency said that reasonable time would be given for the exhaustion of existing stocks—say six months. After that period, all liquor would be liable to payment. Lastly, there was the system to which Government proposed to give a trial. His Excellency was of opinion that the simplest way to consider the Bill was to examine briefly the contents of the Bill. The Bill was based on the Liquor Ordinances of the Straits Settlements. The duty imposed on Chinese liquor was not identical with that obtaining in the Straits Settlements. The duty was considered acceptable and fair by the Chinese. His Excellency referred to the system of private bonded warehouses, which, His Excellency said, would obviate the storage of liquor in public godowns, and therefore prevent smuggling. It was inevitable that the introduction of any Bill in any country in which any duty was imposed should be passed with expedition in order to avoid importations in anticipation. His Excellency hoped that Government would get the assistance of unofficial members and that they would be able to pass the Bill at the next meeting. The Bill was only provisional. The schedule which was the subject of a resolution on the 13th. August would only take a different form. The Bill as it stood at present gave large powers to the Governor-in-Council. In the circumstances in which they were placed, it was necessary to take the most practical and useful course. It was unlikely that any respectable European would have their baggage interfered with, but without that safeguard, any coolie could bring liquor into the Colony and defy the machinery provided by law. As regarded samsu, it was obvious that a duty could not be imposed on one class of liquor to the exclusion of others. His Excellency hoped that the right to search provided by the Bill would in practice remain a dead letter. No one was more jealous of Hongkong's position as a free port than His Excellency (Applause). As liquor was a bulky article, smuggling could only be worth while in large quantities, while the profit on a case of morphia was in itself large. His Excellency had already been informed that the Chinese community consumed as much, if not more, foreign liquor as other sections of the community. In conclusion, His Excellency said he looked confidently to the unofficial members to assist the Government to pass the Bill at an early date (Applause).

Hon. Mr. E. A. Hewitt said that the Bill was prepared somewhat hurriedly. No member had seen a copy before last night. There was much to commend it, but His Excellency was somewhat too optimistic. The Bill appeared to be highly contentious. Before it could be passed extensive modifications would have to be asked for. He recognised the necessity of increasing the revenue—and that at an early date—but a Bill could not possibly be rushed through. The Bill was to be considered not only by the Legislative Council but by the public at large. The speaker said that the Bill would have to be modified to meet the views of the community. The Government could safely rely on the hearty co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce. The Bill, however, did not meet with the views of a considerable section of the community.

It was enacted by the Governor of Hongkong, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:—

Section 1 is the short title.

Section 2 gives the interpretation of terms.

DUTY.

3.—(1) There shall be paid upon intoxicating liquors hereafter imported into distilled or prepared in the Colony the duties following, namely:—

On all spirituous liquors, ... $3.20 per gallon.

On all sparkling wines, ... 2.00 per gallon.

On all other intoxicating liquors, excepting native wines and spirits, ... 0.32 per gallon.

On all native wines and spirits, ... 0.15 per gallon.

It shall be lawful for the Legislative Council at any time by resolution to alter or amend all or any of the foregoing duties.

(2) The duty upon intoxicating liquors imported by sea in any ship other than a junk as defined by the Merchant Shipping Ordinance, 1899 shall be payable:—

(a) If such liquors are not forthwith in accordance with the conditions of a permit issued under this Ordinance removed into a King's or licensed warehouse or into another ship.

before the removal of them from the ship in which they are imported;

(b) If such liquors are forthwith removed into a King's or licensed warehouse.

before the removal of them from such King's or licensed warehouse, unless such removal is for export or into another King's or licensed warehouse.

(3) The duty upon intoxicating liquors imported by junk or by land shall be payable at such time and place as may be prescribed by rules made under this Ordinance.

(4) The duty upon intoxicating liquors distilled made or prepared in the Colony shall be payable before the removal of such liquors from the factory or place in which they are distilled made or prepared.

IMPORT AND EXPORT OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

4.—(1) No person shall import or export dutiable liquors or denatured spirits except into or from such ports or places of the Colony as may be specified by the Governor and notified in the Gazette.

(2) No person shall import or export dutiable liquors or denatured spirits by land except under and in accordance with such regulations and restrictions as may from time to time be prescribed by rule under this Ordinance.

5.—(1) No person shall remove any dutiable liquors from any ship in which the same may have been imported without a permit in the Form No. 4 in the Schedule to this Ordinance in the case of liquors on which duty is to be paid before such removal, or in the Form No. 5 in the said Schedule in the case of liquors to be stored in a King's or licensed warehouse and

Hon. Mr. Murray Stewart said:—Your Excellency, it is true, as the Hon. Member for the Chamber of Commerce has just said that I had intended with your permission briefly to address the Council even at this early stage, with a view to acceleration of the passage of the Bill through the second reading.

My idea in so doing is to indicate to the Government where their proposals are likely to excite opposition. Originally opposition to putting on an import duty arose out of fear that this could not be done without creating the whole paraphernalia of a custom house. That fear I formerly shared. The idea seemed to be incompatible with the preservation of Hongkong as a free trade port. No one believes more firmly than I do in the absolute necessity for maintaining that. At an interview granted to the unofficial members at Government House to which your Excellency has referred I spoke strongly against examining the luggage of European passengers by ocean steamers. It was only because so many gentlemen who are in a position to know how the trade is worked were found to maintain that such things need form no part of a scheme of import duty that I ever agreed to the idea of imposing one.

In subscribing to the unofficial members' recommendation to impose one I was actuated by the belief that such petty smuggling as might be improbably attempted from ocean steamers by European passengers need not seriously engage the attention of the Government, whose business of collecting the duty was to be conducted through the Harbour Office on broad and simple lines calculated to create the least possible amount of friction. Only on such lines did I advocate an import duty and only in so far as such lines are adhered to by the terms of the Bill does it command my support. I am opposed to the idea of granting immediately powers which provide for the institution of a Customs service—powers conferred by sections 30 to 35. The latter clause, providing for domiciliary visits in dwelling houses, is particularly repugnant to me. Your Excellency has just said that you will undertake that these powers will not be invoked vexatiously. I am sure that such will always be Your Excellency's desire. But, nevertheless, I deprecate putting such a power into the hands of subordinate officers until the absolute necessity for it has been proved to exist. I suggest that regulations conferring such powers might be made hereafter by resolutions of this Council, to be passed when, in the public interest, it is seen to be necessary. I suggest that the Government should so modify this Bill. I quite appreciate the necessity of enacting it quickly, if at all. (Applause)

The Bill was read a first time.

The Bill contains 44 sections, the main provisions of which we give below. The preamble reads:—

Whereas it is considered expedient that duties should be levied upon intoxicating liquors, and whereas it is advisable that, pending the revision and consolidation of the law relating to such liquors, steps should be taken to make provision for the immediate collection of such revenues:—

Be it enacted by the Governor of Hongkong, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows:—

Section 1 is the short title.

H. H. WU SEUNG LUM'S RESIGNATION.

APPRECIATION OF NEW VICEROY.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 9th September.

H. H. Wu Seung Lum, the existing Viceroy in Canton, is considered an able and energetic official. During his administration of the Kwangtung Provincial Treasury, he considerably reduced the expenditure of the Department and was able to place to the reserve a sum of five million dollars. The new Viceroy, H. H. Yuan Shu Hsun, had no knowledge of H. H. Wu's ability until he arrived here. H. H. Wu is anxious to retain the services of H. H. Yuan Shu Hsun in the administration of the Liang Kwang Viceroyalty, but in this he has failed as H. H. Wu had already memorialized the Imperial Government for permission to resign from office before H. H. Yuan submitted a memorial to the Government for H. H. Wu's retention in office. H. H. Wu's resignation is much regretted by the general public in this city.

PATRONISED BY Prince of Wales, then H. R. H. The Duke of York, and H. R. H. The Emperor of Russia, and having 4,500 testimonials from all sources.

My 34 years' experience in tattooing is a guarantee of good work and prompt attention. My colors are absolutely fast and perfectly harmless, and produce a charming effect not attained by any other, as their composition is only known to me. In tattooing unlike some species of engravings, care must be taken to have the work done in a perfect, high toned manner. In order to take special precautions against possible dangers, I use fresh materials daily.

The copying of Portraits with distinct minutiae is a specialty.
